

camcontacts

CamContacts.com is one of the world's best live video chat sites, offering a fun and easy way to enjoy interacting with people in over 170 countries.

Founded in 1999 by a group of users who wanted to radically improve the experience of video chats, the company now has chat hosts from virtually every country on the planet. Through a custom proprietary video streaming platform, CamContacts has handled over 100 million hours of live interactive streaming video including direct cam-to-cam experiences. Presenting the product offering through a network of various market niches, as well as an aggressive white label program for affiliates, CamContacts has grown over the last 20 years into one of the premiere companies in video chat worldwide.

CamContacts treat Viewers and Chathosts with respect - delivering the level of customer support they want. CamContacts believe in transparency and will listen to any issues, seeking to improve on the service wherever possible.

CamContacts is an executive member of the ASACP (Association of Sites Advocating Child Protection) and uses the self-governing RTA (Restricted To Adults) service to label itself as inappropriate for minors.

The company was the first to use the mobile medium for their product, initially launching their mobile platform in 2003. The company was also first to market with a solution for the iPhone and iPad which does not require an app. A similar solution, another world first, also exists for Android-based phones. A viewer only needs to point the phone's browser at CamContacts.com and is able to chat from anywhere in the world.
